India's fabled hospitality extends to those on a gluten-free diet on this unique tour to the exotic and picturesque gardens, palaces, mountains and deserts of India, featuring the luxurious 5-star+ hotels, resorts and spas of the Oberoi Group, one of the most decorated hotel chains in the world. Its properties are frequent recipients of prestigious awards and accolades from leading publications including Forbes, Condé Nast Traveler and voted "World's Best Hotel Brand" for two years running by Travel+Leisure.

The tour features New Delhi, India's historic capital including the magnificent Gandhi Memorial. There's Chandigarh, the idyllic planned city and gardens designed by renowned architect Le Corbusier. Tour Jaipur in the heart of the romantic Rajasthan Desert. Visit the bird sanctuary at Bharatpur and the "ghost city" of Fatehpur Sikri. And Agra, with the iconic Taj Mahal, among many other must-see sites.

Visitors are pleasantly surprised by the fragrant flavors of Indian cuisine which uses cream, yogurt or gram flour (from chickpeas) to thicken sauces (never wheat flour). There are also tasty breads made from lentils. It's an exceptional culinary experience featuring alltime favorites such as daal and butter chicken. All meals included and under the supervision of India's leading celiac support group.
